

Games :

1. What animal am I?
2. I spy something that's the colour

What is the learning in this activity ?

Ages: 3+

Purpose: Engaging children in playing games to encourage imagination and build language, where nothing additional is required, just themselves. These can be played at home and out and about - 'I spy' is great for travelling in the car, shopping trips and in waiting rooms!

Let's play!

1. What animal am I ? Each person takes a turn at doing the actions of an animal : thinking about how it looks, if it is tall or small, slow or fast, is smooth, has ears

2. others can ask questions such as does it have 4 legs? is it furry? Does it live on a farm?

1. I spy something that is the colour is a great introduction to this game for young children; its fun, assists in learning colours and builds language

Let's talk..

Extension - Older children can extend 'I spy' by graduating to shapes and letters.

The 'what animal am I' game can be extended to what occupation, activity/action or object am I? Children love to see parents and carers playing games and having fun with them.

We'd love to see your creations and home based play.
